Moody Resigns Management Northfield Hotel In New Hands All Former Policies Retained

New Manager Here Hotel One Of Chain

Considerable surprise has been manifested when it has become known that Mr. Ambert G. Moody after a continuous service of forty-three years as manager of the Northfield Hotel tendered to the Directors of the Hotel Company his resignation at the annual meeting held last February. Mr. Moody has been manager ever since his undergraduate days at Amherst College and his resignation comes as a result of his retirement age which he has reached this year. In his time Mr. Moody has witnessed the full development of the hotel and its property and has cared for many of the interests of his guests who have come from far and near, even beyond the seas.

After accepting his resignation the officers and directors of the Hotel Corporation were faced with the problem of its future management and the stock of the Hotel Company is owned by the Northfield Schools Inc.

The property consists of the Hotel building, the Chateau, the garage, the barn, golf links and courts situated within 225 acres of land all located in the Franklin Hills in the East Northfield section of the town with entrances off Highland Avenue. To a Herald representative Mr. Elliott Speer when interviewed said: "The Directors of the Hotel Company feel sure that they have found a most satisfactory way of meeting the difficulty of the hotel management created by the resignation of Mr. Moody and that the Directors feel sure that the new management will maintain the same standards which the hotel has attained under Mr. Moody's successful administration of its affairs during the past years."

The hotel has not been leased. Mr. Treadway will supervise its management being responsible to the Hotel Board of Directors as Mr. Moody has been in the past. Mr. Treadway's residence and headquarters are in Williamstown. Mr. Shea will be resident manager under Mr. Treadway's supervision. The Herald greets the new management with a gracious word of welcome and extends to Mr. Moody its kindly gesture of appreciation.

Tendered Appreciation Mr. Moody Surprised

A very cordial expression of good will and esteem was manifested last Wednesday afternoon at The Northfield Hotel when the staff of workers at the hotel surprised Mr. Ambert G. Moody, Manager and presented him with a written personal tribute and a beautiful desk pen set.

The testimonial as signed was as follows:

"We, the employees of The Northfield, wish to express our appreciation of having been associated with you in the hotel work during the past years and to thank you for all your kindnesses to us and for your consideration.

We are glad that we shall continue to have a chance to see you often and will willingly respond to any requests you may make of us.

In order to continue our association with you we ask that you accept these pens and trust that your interesting stories may take permanent shape.

Musical Program Enjoyed In Town Hall

The program of music given by the scholars of Northfield's Public schools in the Town Hall last Friday evening was much enjoyed by the audience which had gathered. Every school and every room in each school was represented on the program except the high school which did not take part as the evening was devoted to the work of the younger children. Miss Marion Webster, music director of the public schools was in charge of the program and the children who took part showed interest and skill.

County Church Club Will Meet Here To Listen To An Address

The spring meeting of the Franklin County Congregational Club will be held at the Northfield Hotel, East Northfield, Tuesday evening, May 23 1933 at 6:30 o'clock when a banquet will be served in the large dining room.

The club is fortunate in securing Professor George H. Blakeslee of Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts, internationally-known authority on Far Eastern affairs, to speak on the subject "The Crisis in Manchuria."

Professor Blakeslee was a member of the Lytton Commission which made a searching inquiry into the Manchurian difficulties for the League of Nations a year ago. His counsel has frequently been requested by Washington.

Local interest is added in the fact that Dr. Blakeslee was a teacher of History in 1895-98 at Mount Hermon School.

A large attendance of members throughout the County are expected to be present. Prof. L. L. Norton of Highland Avenue is the assistant Secretary of the Club in charge of local arrangement.

Season Opens For Local Baseball

All local baseball fans will be pleased to hear the welcome news that the local ball team will get under way this week.

A game has been booked by the management with the Bernardston Town Team for Thursday, May 18. It will get started about 6:15 p.m.

The local boys have had a few practice sessions in the last few weeks and they now feel that they are ready for competitive games. Stanley Bistrick is slated to do the twirling in the opening game. "Johnny" Kersavay will be behind the plate catching his usual fine brand of baseball.

In the infield there is Mgr. Williams, Clayton Glazier, Paul Urzilewicz, "Bob" Shearer, of last year's team, with Johnny Plotczyk, Ralph Kervian and other high school players ready to fill in at any time.

In the outfield Eddie Scoble and Horace Bolton of last year's combine will be on hand with a good many other candidates also awaiting for favorable positions.

Harlan Atwood has been keeping Uncle Sam's Mail busy the last few days writing to various teams to schedule games for the near future. So before many weeks have slipped by the management hopes to be able to place a winning team on the field against formidable opponents.

On Memorial Day, the team will play for the first time "decked out" in their new uniforms. Mr. Atwood reports that he hopes to have a strong team, probably from Shelburne Falls, for the visiting team at that time.

Everyone keep watch for the posters that will be placed at the usual places around town and lets all turn out and give the team the usual fine support that has been accorded them in years past.

Commencement Speakers At Northfield Seminary

Since the dates of the Commencement at Northfield Seminary have been fixed and the exercises of the graduating class have been arranged to begin Friday, June 9th, it is announced that the Baccalaureate address will be delivered by Rev. James Gordon Gilkey D. D., of the South Congregational Church, Springfield, Mass., on Sunday, June 11th and the commencement address will be delivered on Monday, June 12th by President J. Edgar Park of Wheaton College, Norton, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. B. Heath of Alston, Mass., and Miss MacDonald are spending their usual vacation at the Northfield Hotel. They have many friends here particularly among the summer folk.

Big Event Coming "In An Antique Shoppe" At The Auditorium

A picturesque and colorful entertainment will be given in the Auditorium at East Northfield on Saturday evening, May 27. The program will be in two parts, of which the first will be a selection of songs by the Mount Hermon Glee Club under the direction of Professor Irving J. Lawrence, and the second will be a playlet entitled "In An Antique Shoppe," by Ethel Hawthorne Tewksbury of Andover, Mass.

This will be the last opportunity during the present school year to hear Mount Hermon Glee Club in Northfield.

The story of the play is this:

The girl in the "Antique Shoppe" wishes that she knew more about her treasures. Who owned them and used them? What part did they play in the lives of the original and later owners? As if in answer to her desire the people of bygone days come back one by one, pageant fashion to tell her of the long ago.

The Auditorium platform will be enlarged and converted into a cottage shop where a number of genuine antiques, loaned for the occasion by friends about town, will be on view. There will be an old fashioned garden on the floor level in front of the platform. Over 80 characters will appear on stage, each person dressed in appropriate old-fashioned costume. Many of the dresses worn have interesting stories and associations of their own, being family heirlooms.

The part of the shop girl will be played by Mrs. Allen Manville Schaufler of New York. By way of Prologue she talks to herself as she goes about dusting and inspecting her wares. She wishes the old-time things could tell their story. She sits by the fireplace, dreaming, and off stage comes an answer to her wish in the strains of "Long, long ago." One by one the visions of the past are now personified in 18 separate episodes.

First there appears at the shop door a little maiden in quaint dress and carrying a reticule. She comes down front stage, sits on a cricket or small stool, takes out a sampler and begins working. This part is taken by little Winona Robinson. After she has spoken her piece and retired a young woman in Puritan costume (Miss Arline Prevost) enters and sits at the spinning wheel. As she works she sings "In the Gloaming" and "The Spinning Song."

The next is a cradle scene. A mother enters (Mrs. Merwin D. Birdsall) carrying a baby in her arms, which she tucks in the wooden cradle. As she rocks the cradle she voices her maternal dreams and desires. Off stage "Brown's Lullaby" is sung by Mrs. Mildred Addison.

The fourth episode revolves around an old arm chair. Enters a little old lady (Mrs. Edward Frairy) with a bit of knitting. She sits down, pats the arm of the chair, and talks to it of mutual reminiscences. "The Old Arm Chair" adds a musical background.

Next comes a livelier scene, a coonish tea party. Mrs. C. C. Conner is hostess, and her guests include Mrs. Joseph W. Field, Mrs. Anna Freeman, Mrs. Fred A. Holton, Mrs. E. Howard, Mrs. William P. Stanley, Mrs. C. C. Stearns, and Mrs. C. H. Webster. Tom Parker and Calvin Field pose as Pompeys, colored pages. "The Revolutionary Tea Song" and "Soldiers of the Queen" are in keeping with the martial tone of the gathering.

This is followed by a Paisley shawl scene, in which Mrs. W. G. Webber impersonates a lady of fashion of the Victorian era. Scotch airs give the musical background.

Another group episode comes next, a quilting bee. Mrs. Fred S. Merrifield is president, and with her on the stage are Mrs. Joseph Colton, Mrs. Russell Durgin, Mrs. Charles Hodges, Mrs. Lawrence Lazelle, Mrs. A. H. Mattoon, and Mrs. Mary Nye. These dames get busy with their patchwork, and talk as they sew. Off stage Mrs. Harry Foley sings "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party."

The eighth episode introduces a Mid-Victorian lady (Miss Prudence Moore), who goes to the mantel and takes a china dog in her hands, and talks to him in accordance with the china dog fad.

An old fan is the center of action in the next scene. A girl dressed for a ball (Mrs. Walter W. Hyde) comes in, looks for her fan, and soliloquizes. Presently a cavalier enters (Mr. Hyde), and after a little flirtation they dance merrily.

No old fashioned pageant would be complete without a Godey lady. Miss Marion Kendrick will impersonate this part as if she stepped out of the pages of the famous "Godey's Lady's Book." Her mon-

Memorial Day Plans Parade And Address

Arrangements are going steadily forward for the observance of Memorial Day in Northfield. The Orange Drum Corps has been re-engaged again for this year's parade which will start from the Town Hall in the morning at nine o'clock, march to Alexander Hall to decorate the G. A. R. Tablet, thence to the Center Cemetery and from there to Town Hall to decorate the Legion tablet. About eleven o'clock the program will begin in Town Hall and the orator of the day will be the Rev. Lester P. White of Mount Hermon. The drum corps in their snappy uniforms and with even better music than usual will play the martial airs. The public are invited to attend the meeting at Town Hall.

May Day Observed By "Tree Day" Fetes Upon Seminary Campus

Tree Day at the Northfield Seminary was celebrated Monday afternoon on the athletic field near Marquand Hall when an Elizabethan May Day Frolic in seven episodes, including a Maypole Dance, the planting of the junior tree, and a spade oration took place before a large seated audience. The grounds looked beautiful with their decorations of flags and ribbons and the throne of the queen of the play. Over 500 guests had assembled to witness the participation of nearly 300 students in the events.

The May Queen was Melanie Updergraff, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. David Updergraff, who are missionaries in India. She was attended by 24 seniors. The Spade Oration was delivered by the president of the senior class, Carol Valentine.

Having established precedent by appointing Miss Frances Perkins of New York as Secretary of Labor, and the first woman to serve in the Cabinet, President Roosevelt has since named two other women for high public office. First he nominated as minister to Denmark Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, former member of Congress from Florida, and a daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan. More recently the President names as director of the mint Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming. Hats off to the women. It's a fine recognition.

Five out of every 100 men at the age of 65 have independent incomes—and 67 are dependents. Financial independence represents one of the oldest human desires, and there is a safe, a sound and an entirely feasible way of attaining it, through life insurance. Every man in his younger days should see to it that he has a sufficient stake in income life insurance.

If you wish to be happy you must learn to be just deaf enough not to hear some things and just blind enough not to see others, and in so doing you will often make others happy if not yourself. Thus speaks an Editor of a Massachusetts weekly in a near by town and his logic is full of sound reasoning and common sense. Generally speaking what others say or do, even in times of uncontrolled "gabble" or "action" proves the actor and the acts and need not be considered as serious.

Memorial Day is at hand and it will again remind us of the devotion of men to patriotism and to the service of a mighty nation. We shall decorate the graves of the warriors who fell in battle that the nation might be free and to preserve liberty and justice, to make the world safe for democracy. But in its broader sense we shall decorate the graves of all those memory we hold dear and who in their living have made this world of ours a better place in which you and I may live and find our happiness.

The bill granting the county commissioners an extension of time for the sale of the old court house building and land, which has been before the legislature for some time has been passed by both the House and the Senate. In addition the bill allowed the commissioners to use the money derived from the sale of the old

Find Skeleton

At Sunken Gardens

The ghost may walk now in "Sunken Garden," a place much frequented by picnic parties in the past and a real rendezvous of those who enjoy the work of nature and the attractiveness of land formations. Two weeks ago Alex Paduchak while wandering about the place discovered the skeleton of a woman.

The body originally had been buried under about four feet of earth at the top of the river bank with the head toward the river. The high water this spring had washed away the earth around the skull until it rolled down the bank and was found by the young man. On going up the bank he saw some other bones, and he and other boys began digging them out of the earth. A hole was found in the skull which those who examined it said looked like a bullet wound. No clothing or remnants of clothing could be found in the grave nor was there any trace of a coffin or a box.

Sheriff Frank J. Bennett of Keene took charge of the skeleton and said he would show it to Medical Referee Arthur F. Weston, also of Keene.

No cemetery exists or has existed, so far as known, at this site. The skeleton was not that of an Indian, the doctors agreed, after examination of the formation of the skull. They believed the woman was white and had been buried many years ago.

The place where the skeleton was found is some four miles south of Hinsdale, not far from the Massachusetts line, at a point known as "The Sunken Gardens." The find produces a "mystery" to be solved.

courthouse property, with the restriction that it should be sold for not less than $50,000. Two years were allowed for this sale, the time expiring next month. The new bill will allow the commissioners additional time to dispose of the property.

New Jersey will probably pass a law to exempt newspaper men from revealing to any grand jury, legislative committee or other investigating body the source of any news written by them. It would place newspaper men on professional confidences with doctors and lawyers.

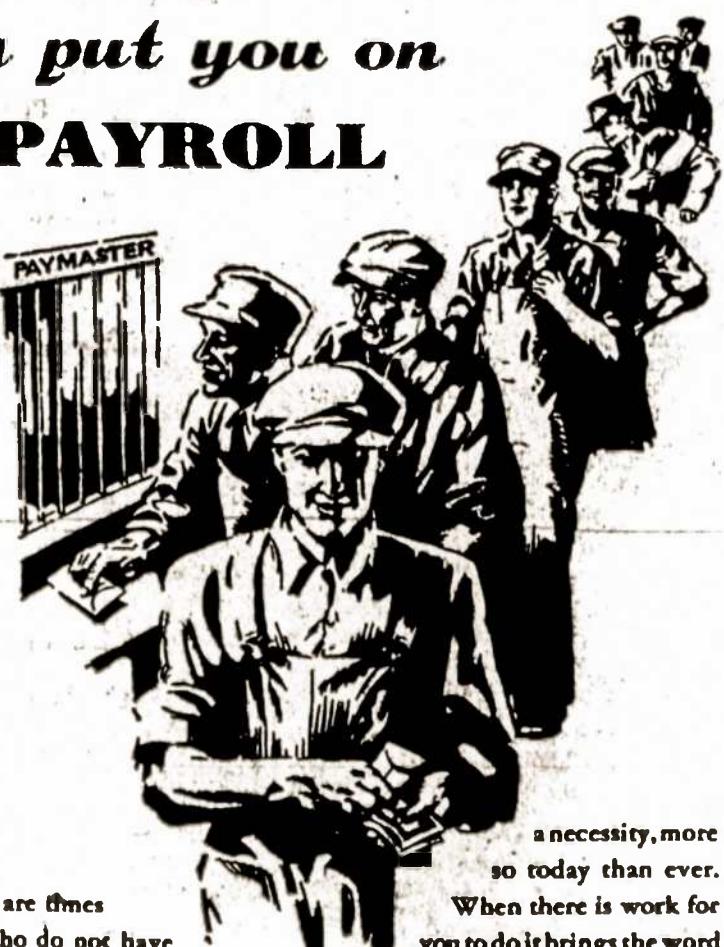

The State Convention of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at Northampton in June.

Fifteen persons met death by automobiles in Massachusetts during the week ending the 12th, raising the total fatalities to date this year to 313 as compared with 291 in the same period of last year.

Last week's death total was three higher than in the week before, and also three higher than in the same period of 1932. Of the victims 11 were adults and four were children; nine were pedestrians, five were occupants of cars, and one was a bicycle rider.

The seventh general meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce will take place in Vienna, May 29th to June 4th. The American delegation will leave New York on the S. S. Bremen on May 21st.

Speer. Rev. Lester P. White, the pastor, will serve communion.

Three of the clubs held their annual banquet last Saturday night.
At the Weldon in Greenfield the Lambda Pi Sigma held their banquet in the University Room, the Pierians in the Banquet Room. The Philomathaeans held their dinner at the Brooks Hotel in Brattleboro.

ited campus over the weekend.

Mr. Ernest N. Kirman, Chairman of the Department of German spent the week end in New York.

Dean Thomas E. Elder took a party of students to visit Amherst and Massachusetts State Colleges on Monday. Donald H. Hardy, Victor
A. Jones, and Tabor Polhemus were in the party. Mr. Carroll G. Ross on the same day took Kenneth MacFadyen, F. Howard Smith and Edwin A. Vasser to Middlebury College.

Miss Doris M. Pease was visited by her parents on Sunday.

A supper for the members of the Mount Hermon Church was held Sunday evening on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Lester P. White's home.
About a hundred and fifty members were present. Mr. Speer,
Mr. Jackson, Mr. Watson, and Mr.
White spoke, and Edwin Nixon and W. G. Cole spoke for the student body.

Miss Helen Forsythe, former secretary of Dean Elder has been spending the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Piper.

Mr. Adolph N. Krug of the class of 1900 returned to campus last week end and spoke to the Missionary Class and the Mount Hermon Church. Mr. Krug has spent the last thirty years in Cameroun, is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, a recognition of his excellent work in mapping the country in which his mission is situated.

the Reverend J. Dodds and his wife for dinner Sunday. Reverend Dodds, who resides in Northfield when not pursuing his missionary work in India, is the Executive Secretary of all the Presbyterian Missions in India. Robert C. Dodds

mon.

Artist To Exhibit

Announcement is made that an unusual opportunity will be afforded the students of the Northfield Schools and the towns people to view the works of Mr. Robert Strong Woodward in Kenard Hall during the period of June 3rd to the 13th.

Mr. Woodward is interested in the New England scene in many aspects; especially the Connecticut Valley and the environs of the Mohawk Trail. The exhibition will consist of originals in oils and a number of chalk drawings the hanging of which the artist will supervise in person.

His work should interest the art classes and also all who love New England's square white houses, her autumn maples and the "sugar bush" in Spring. His best known recent painting "New England Drama" will perhaps be in the exhibition which has been on view in New York and more recently in Northampton and Deerfield.

Mr. Woodward will be in attendance at the exhibit part of the time. His home is in our neighboring town of Buckland.

Christian Endeavor

The meeting Sunday evening,
May 21st will be addressed by Prof. Duley of the Northfield Seminary. This should be one of the outstanding meetings of the year and a large attendance is expected. A special Mother's Day program was the feature of last Sunday's meeting. The Endeavor was glad to welcome many mothers at that service.

The birth rate in Massachusetts has dropped to a new low point. It had been steadily declining since 1924 and last year was 15.8 per 1,000 population. There were 18,- 979 more births than deaths in 1932. In 1931 there were 20,642 more births than deaths, 1932 showing a loss in this respect of 1662. There were 68,610 live births in 1932.

High School Nine Wins
Charlemont Game, 3-2

Overcoming a three run lead in the ninth inning, the Northfield High baseball team beat Charlemont, 8-7 at a home game May 12.
Timely hits by the local team decided the contest, which was the most exciting of the season.

Northfield was turned back by St. Michael's 3-2, in a close game at Brattleboro on May 10.

High School Notes

Miss Matthews returned to school Friday. Miss Helen Vorce taught for her Wednesday and Thursday.
The Junior girls have been selling homemade candy during the noon recess in anticipation of a trip during their Senior year.

The Seniors and the Glee Club as well as the Orchestra have started preparations for graduation.

During the last two weeks everybody has missed Daddy Baxter who has been unable to be at school because of sickness. Mr. Haskell has been working in his place.
We hope the townspeople are following the actions of the baseball team this season. On the whole it has been doing some good work with victories over Hinsdale, Turners Falls, and Charlemont High Schools. The growing number of spectators at the games which are held on the Hotel grounds is evidence of the interest of the community in the game as played by the High School. If anybody is interested in following the team on its out-of-town trips any information as to place and time may be obtained from Manager Glazier or Captain Haven.
